BOOKS

Dear Parent,

Thank you for downloading this 26-prompt travel journal. I encourage you to take a look at it and print out extra prompts that may need more than one for a longer trip. Here are some suggestions:

D - The dining out prompt can be for a favorite meal of the trip, a favorite meal of the day or every meal of the trip. Print out as many copies as you think you'd need.

F - The facts and figures are a great way to introduce kids to know a new place, but for places with multiple stops, print out one for each stop.

H - Print out one for each hotel.

I - The itinerary prompt is meant to be for one day. You might not want to do one day only, so print out multiples to cover multiple days.

K - Keepsakes and collectibles will probably take up more than one page. Print out more or use blank paper for found items.

W - I love tracking weather and if there are any budding meteorologists in the family they might love having more than one day of tracking in their travel journal.

This journal was made in conjunction with a blogging A-Z series of posts, to read background and tips for each prompt check out this post:

B

Business Cards

Collect them and put them here

Business cards are so much fun. Find some at some of the shops, museums, and restaurants and attach them here. Let them overlap, or just pick out your favorites.

C

Costs for things

How much did it cost? Put it here.

Things cost money, and it's interesting to see how the prices compare from place to place. So keep track of some of the trips expenses on these price tags.

D

Dining Out

These are the things from my favorite meal

Eating out in new places is the perfect opportunity to try something you've never had before.

Or maybe stick to the food you know you like. Draw it below.

How was it?

E

Emotions

I came, I saw, and this is how I felt about it

Travel can be emotional. The beautiful sites, the difficult to understand language, or the unexpected sleepiness - draw your emotions and label where you saw it below.

F

Facts & Figures

Facts and Figures I've learned about this place

Collect the fun facts and figures about where you're visiting. Hot tip: Parents of young kids, let them make it up and see how it compares with reality.

Major Cities

Important People

Unique Aspects

G

Graphs

Draw the line

How many red towels are there at the beach? How many taxis vs bikes vs trucks?pass you in the city? Figure out what you want to count, and plot the results below.

H

Hotels

Or other accommodations we're staying in

Hotels are magical. Take some time to note some of the things about your hotel room below.
Add anything else if you want to!
